

Stacy Urban started her career as a business analyst almost a decade ago and has worked in health, finance, government and energy. Stacy graduated from the University of Portland with a BBA in Operations and Technology Management. She is currently working for the Oregon Health Authority in the Office of Health IT.

Stacy has been a member of IIBA International and the local Portland Metro Chapter for 4 years and has served two terms on the board as the VP of Marketing and Communications. In this role, she has overseen a transition to a new chapter website; cultivated relationships with sponsors and speakers; assisted in finding new meeting locations; and guided marketing and communications for the chapter.

If re-elected to the Board, she plans to continue the work in communications and marketing of the chapter and to support the work of her fellow board members as well as continue to cultivate sponsorships.
