

Stacy Urban started her career as a business analyst a decade ago and has worked in health, finance, government and energy. Stacy graduated from the University of Portland with a BBA in Operations and Technology Management. She is currently working for the Oregon Health Authority in the Office of Health IT as an Operations and Policy Analyst.

Stacy has been a member of IIBA International and the local Portland Metro Chapter for 6 years and has served three terms on the board as the VP of Marketing and Communications. In this role, she has overseen a transition to a new chapter website; cultivated relationships with sponsors and speakers; assisted in finding new meeting locations; helped to onboard new board members; transitioned communications and event invites from Evite to Eventbrite and guided marketing and communications for the chapter.

If re-elected to the Board, she plans to continue the work in communications and marketing of the chapter and to support the work of her fellow board members.
